BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, April 13.—The United States has laid down the definite policy that it will permit of no action by foreign debtor nations that would make the position of this government less favorable with respect to obligations due it.

Establishment of the policy was discussed today with publication by the American debt commission of communications with the mission from the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, which last Monday discussed a funding arrangement on that country's debt of $61,587,000. The decision left without making any headway towards a settlement but carried with it a letter setting forth the American view.

Note Is Pointed.
"Pending the rendering of satisfaction of the indebtedness in question," the debt commission's letter said, "the commission assumes that no action will be taken by your government with respect to any of its indebtedness heretofore or hereafter incurred which will result in placing the United States in a less favorable position as a creditor than that which now occupies."

The paragraph was regarded as making it clear that the United States intends to retain the priority of its obligations where such priority exists and that it will accept no second lien that may result from shifting financial arrangements in the reorganization of any foreign government's debts.

Favor Time Extension.
It was indicated that a majority of the debt commissioners feel further time should be given the foreign powers in which to initiate funding negotiations because of the hope that a settlement of the reparations problem may be near. The Jugo-Slav delegation said its government expected to offer a funding settlement when the reparations question is worked out. Its situation was deemed likely to meet the other smaller debtors so a renewed proposal that the debt commission would mark time for while.

May Jog Debtors.
Some members of the commission have the impression should advise foreign debtors, in event the James McKenna suggestions result in settlement of the reparations question, that this government desires to earn their funding proposals. They held that sufficient time has been given, but those holding this view are the minority at this time. In the letter to the Jugo-Slavs, the commission said it "regretted" that the government of the Kingdom did not find it possible to proceed with funding discussions at this time but accepted the statements of the Jugo-Slav government's financial condition warranting the hope that a proposal for funding would be submitted at an early date.

Interior Decoration

Do you want to make your home beautiful without straining the family pocketbook? There is nothing mysterious or awesome in the principles of interior decoration. Any man or woman can learn the essentials of the subject, and adapting the materials available to the home he or she must live in, make it a more beautiful, restful and charming place to occupy. Our Washington Bureau has prepared for you an authoritative 6,000 word bulletin on the subject written not for those who have money to spend on employing an interior decorator, or to purchase the various expensive books on the subject, but designed to offer helpful suggestions to Mr. and Mrs. Everyday Citizen who have a moderate sized house and purse, and who wish to furnish and decorate the former as attractively as the latter will allow. Fill out the coupon below if you want this bulletin:

5 MONTHS BRIDE
SLAIN BY HUBBY, IS POLICE IDEA

Chicago, April 13.—Identification of the body of a young woman found late yesterday in a forest preserve as that of Mrs. Anna Kohnke de Gov, a bride of five months, caused police today to begin search for her husband, James de Gov.

The body, found by two small boys beneath a pile of brushwood, the throat slashed and with a Chicago newspaper of February 26 wrapped about the cut, was identified today by Miss Ida Kohnke, the girl's aunt, who said her niece and the girl's husband disappeared mysteriously on February 25.

Relatives said that before her disappearance the girl complained of beatings given her by her husband.

IMMENSE THROG
AT YORK FUNERAL

Long Line Passes by Altar Where Body Lay in State—Thousands Attend Service.

Friends and admirers of Lucian York, manager of M. Rich and Bros. company, passed in what appeared an endless stream Sunday before the altar of Ponce de Leon Baptist church, where the body lay in state for one hour before funeral services began at 2 o'clock.

Several hours before services began the auditorium of the church was crowded to capacity. All available standing room was utilized by those eager to pay a last tribute to the beloved Atlantan, before the body arrived at the church.

Extending for many blocks, traffic along Ponce de Leon avenue and Peachtree, including all intersecting streets for four hundred yards in every direction, was practically blocked with automobiles. Special motorcycle officers were delegated by the police department to handle traffic during the funeral and the long line of cars to West View cemetery was escorted by a detachment of motorcycle officers.

Services at Church.
Rev. M. Ashby Jones and Rabbi David Marx officiated in the services at the church. Pallbearers, colleagues of Mr. York in the great monument to his genius, the firm of M. Rich & Brothers company, were Walter M. Rich, William Rich, D. H. Strauss, Hub Bass, F. A. Campbell, Arthur Wassner, Johnny Mackie and Joe Lattimer.

Representatives of the three Atlanta newspapers, the Southeastern Fair association and the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association formed an honorary escort.

Clark Howell, Jr., of The Constitution; John S. Cohen, of The Journal, and James B. Nevin, of The Georgian, represented the newspapers.

The Southeastern Fair association was represented by Oscar Mills, Henry W. Davis, R. M. Striplin, Mill R. Wilkinson, H. G. Hastings, Ivan E. Allen, W. T. Ashford, J. L. DeGive, J. P. Allen, H. L. English and H. L. DeGive.

The Atlanta Retail Merchants' association was represented in the escort by A. L. Myers, John Morris, Sam C. Porter, Charles A. Smith, George A. Fauss, E. A. Wachendorf, C. V. Hohenstein and Colonel F. J. Paxson.

Many Floral Offerings.
A profusion of floral offerings covered the entire rear section of the church auditorium. In arranging the hundreds of wreaths sent by people from every strata and walk of life.

COOLIDGE ADOPTS
WILSON STRATEGY
OF PUBLIC APPEAL

President Decides To Carry His Fight With Congress to People. Warfare Is On.

PRIMARY VICTORIES
STIR HIS CONFIDENCE

November Election May Be Repetition of Solemn Referendum of 1920 Campaign.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington, April 13.—Buffeted from post to post by an unruly congress, President Coolidge has resolved to carry his case to the country in a spectacular attempt to stir public opinion to his aid.

It was this decision which inspired his abrupt message to the senate, rebuking part of the membership of that body for the methods that have been employed in investigations of the executive departments—particularly the Treasury Mellon and the bureau of internal revenue.

Coolidge believes that a large body of public sentiment will fall in behind him and cow the senate into docility. Whether this will be the result will be seen during the coming week.

Is Outbreak of War.
The significance of a political point of view, is that Coolidge has decided that he must engage in warfare with congress. He has witnessed the repeated victories of the democratic-republican insurgent coalition in both houses, and has decided that he can expect no aid from capitol hill. Consequently, he must seek it from the country.

Therefore, during the two months remaining before the national convention, the country will witness a battle of strength the outcome of which will go far towards fixing Coolidge's real stature in the public mind. It is a struggle which may conceivably decide the presidential election next November.

Confidence Grows.

There has been a remarkable increase of confidence around the white house since Coolidge carried Michigan, Illinois and Nebraska so easily over Hiram Johnson last week. Prior to that time there had been whisperings among some republicans, particularly those closely associated with the republican national committee, to the effect that possibly Coolidge was not the strong, silent man which he was popularly supposed to be. His handling of the Daugherty resignation caused much underground criticism among republicans. They were afraid it might have an effect on the country by giving an impression of indecision, and they urged that Coolidge stiffen up against the senate attacks before his administration should be wrecked.

But the primaries last week restored confidence in the republican household, and Coolidge's innate poise.

ADAMS QUILTS JOB
AS PROBE ADVISER

Yale Professor Resigns When Move To Employ Heney as Prosecutor Is Announced.

Washington, April 13.—Professor Thomas Adams, who has been acting as adviser to the senate committee investigating the bureau of internal revenue, has resigned, it became known tonight. The reason given was that he was dissatisfied with the trend of the inquiry.

Professor Adams, a professor at Yale, is a tax expert who has assisted both the republican and democratic membership in revenue matters for a number of years and was engaged by the investigating committee soon after it began its deliberations. He became dissatisfied with the course of the committee when it was announced that Francis J. Heney was to be employed as counsel at the personal expense of Senator Couzens.

Embattled Farmers To Live
FASHIONABLE PASTOR RAPS BOTH PRESENT PARTIES
Again in Third Party, Claim

New York, April 13.—"President Coolidge, by his silence in the face of corruption in official circles at Washington, has forfeited every last vestige of respect that the country could have had for him," charged the Rev. John Herman Randall, pastor of the fashionable Community Church of New York, on Park avenue, in a Palm Sunday sermon entitled, "The Challenge of Washington Corruption."

"Coolidge has sacrificed his New England conscience and in attempting to be re-nominated has sold his birthright for a mess of pottage," Randall declared.

"Imagine what Theodore Roosevelt or Woodrow Wilson would have done under similar circumstances?" the preacher continued.

"Their ringing challenge would have swept the rascals out of office overnight."

"If some chance visitor from Mars should drop in on us today," the pastor declared, "the only conclusion he could come to would be that the government is in the hands of the mentally and morally unfit."

Randall did not confine all of his criticism to President Coolidge. He asserted that the democratic party was equally as bad as the republican party, and pointed out that the present status of government in America was the result of the industrial civilization which began 100 years ago, and had now swept virtually every major nation in the world.

He traced the history of the various American political parties, and pointed out that each had risen to power through the "crimes and abuses of power of its predecessor."

Out of it all, Randall declared, will come another new party for this country, with the farm bloc as its nucleus. Leaders of the new movement, Randall said, would be Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, Senator Burton K. Wheeler and Senator Robert La Follette.

The circle of corruption at Washington, Randall declared, is made up of three classes, which he characterized as follows:

First, immoral and unintelligent members of the government.

Second, the Dohneys and Sinclairs, who by strange ways approach cabinet members and "get what they want."

Third, the Jesse Smiths, or "go-betweens," who "dwell in a bootlegger's and bribe-taker's nest, and do the jobs that are beneath the dignity of those higher up."

Washington, April 13.—Declaring the federal government should take steps to put outdoor recreational opportunities within the grasp of the poor as well as the wealthy, President Coolidge tonight announced the appointment of a national policy committee on out-of-door life.

The president charged the committee with promulgation of "a national policy which should not merely coordinate under federal guidance all activities in behalf of outdoor recreation but also formulate a program to serve as a guide for future action."

Various agencies of the national government already are concerned with many phases of the out-of-door life question.

Committee Personnel.
The committee as selected by the president is to consist of Secretaries Weeks of the war department, Work of the interior department, Wallace of the agriculture department, and Hoover of the commerce department, and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department. The proposal for such a committee was put forward originally by Mr. Roosevelt.

Mr. Coolidge announced appointment of the committee in a formal statement which said in part:

"Particularly within the last decade the outdoor recreation spirit among our people has increased rapidly. During this period there have been put forward projects—federal, municipal, state and private—to expand and conserve throughout the country our recreational opportunities. It is almost idle to emphasize their value to the country."

"The physical vigor, moral strength and clean simplicity of mind of the American people can be immeasurably furthered by properly developed opportunities for the life in the open, afforded by our forests, mountains and waterways. Life in the open is a great character builder. From such life much of the American spirit of freedom springs. Furthermore the opportunities of all for such life ranks in the general class with education."

"Our aim in this connection must be to try to put the chance for out-of-door pleasure, with all that it means, within the grasp of the rank and file of our people, the poor man as well as the rich man. Country recreation for as many of our people as possible should be our objective."

STAGED IN HARLEM;
LOOT IS $100,000

New York, April 13.—A $100,000 robbery of jewels, stock and bonds from the safe of the Metro-Sacks Jewelry company, a Harlem concern, was perpetrated without the use of explosives early today. The burglars cut through iron shutters and bars to enter the store and effected a noiseless haul by sawing off the knob of the combination and prying open two compartments.

MOTHER AND BABY

TAKEN BY MISTAKE

Misleading Label Is Cause of Error—Both Will Recover, According to Grady Doctors.

CHILDREN ARE HURT
BY HORSE AND ROCK

Miss Myrtice Morgan Confined to Her Home in Decatur—Injured in Manhole Explosion.

A misleading label on a bottle which contained lysol came near causing the death of two-year-old Dorothy Dutton, 65 Capitol avenue, Sunday morning.

The mother, Mrs. P. M. Dutton, who administered the lysol to the little girl for cough medicine, also suffered severe burns about the mouth when she tasted of the acid when the child screamed in pain.

Both were taken to Grady hospital where the stomach pump was applied by doctors, and in the course of an hour both mother and daughter returned home.

Child Had Cough.
"Little Dorothy had a slight cough this morning when she awakened and I thought I would give her a dose of cough syrup which a doctor had prescribed several days ago," Mrs. Dutton stated.

She said that she placed up the bottle which she thought contained the cough medicine, giving a teaspoonful to her child. When the little one screamed in pain, Mrs. Dutton then tasted it and discovered that some one had put lysol in the bottle without removing the label, and that she had given her daughter poison by mistake.

CHILDREN ARE INJURED
BY HORSE AND ROCK

Two children were treated at the Grady hospital Sunday for possibly fractured skulls—one was kicked by a horse, the other struck on the head with a rock.

Eugene Ellis, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ellis, Egan avenue, was the victim of the horse hoof. He was severely injured, just over the left eye when the animal kicked him accidentally.

Inez Ergle, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ergle, 18 Strong street, was struck on the head with a rock. It was thrown by a little negro boy whose identity was not learned.

WOMAN BADLY INJURED
BY MANHOLE EXPLOSION.

Miss Myrtice Morgan, Sunday was confined to her home in Decatur from injuries received Saturday afternoon when a manhole in Alabama street, between Pryor and Whitehall, exploded. Her injuries consist of severe scalp lacerations and a bruise on the right shoulder. She was struck by some flying missile.

So severe was the combustion that the large plate glass window in the Fulton market, in front of the place where the manhole was located, was shattered.

Patrolman J. F. Wheelock, who investigated the explosion, reported that Washington, April 13.—Claims of Underwood managers that they have 15 of the 25 Iowa delegates are disputed by McAdoo forces. The delegation is unimpaired.

David L. Rockwell, McAdoo manager, has made public a letter from Nicholas F. Reed, who led the opposition at the Iowa state convention, stating that he believes only three of the 25 are opposed to McAdoo and that they are for Smith.

"You can rest assured this delegation, with the unit rule, which was adopted, is solid for McAdoo," Reed stated.

PROHIBITION PLEA
FAILS TO IMPRESS
QUEEN OF BRITAIN

London, April 13.—English prohibitionists, who, although not numerous, are as decided in their views as those of any other land, have been aroused to indignation by the discovery that Queen Mary's million-dollar doll house has wine cellars containing miniature cases of champagne, whisky and other alcoholic beverages which they say no self-respecting doll would drink or even have in the house.

Protests have been made, but without results, and her majesty's exquisitely furnished replica of a fine English home, wine cellars and all, will be on view at the Wembley exhibition to any and all of her subjects who wish to contribute six-pence to charity.

WOMAN REVEALS TRUNK TRAGEDY

Tells Police She Shot Doctor and Kept His Body in Trunk in Her Home for Two Days.

Los Angeles, April 13.—Calmly and with the greatest assurance, Mrs. Margaret Willis, 38, walked into the police station here Sunday and told detectives she had shot and killed Dr. Benjamin Baldwin, Belvedere surgeon, placed his body in a trunk and hauled it from her automobile on the highway near Newhall tunnel.

Detectives accompanied the woman to the spot described near the tunnel and found the body.

While she was being treated by Dr. Baldwin, Mrs. Willis said, he made advances to her, which she tried to resist. Desperate, the pretty widow shot and killed him Friday afternoon in her own apartment. She declared she placed the body in a wardrobe trunk and kept it in her apartment until Saturday night. She put the gruesome case into the rear of a roadster which she purchased from Dr. Baldwin, Mrs. Willis said, and with a friend, Bert Webster, drove into the country.

Webster also surrendered himself at police headquarters, stating that he aided Mrs. Willis in removing the trunk from her apartment not knowing its contents until she confided to him after midnight when they had disposed of the trunk.

The woman is being held on a charge of murder. Her son, Harold Willis, 13, is being questioned by the police.

His Spirit Needed in Solving
Dixie's Problems, Says
Dr. Jones.

Seldom has more sincere tribute and eulogy been paid an Atlanta citizen than was expressed Sunday afternoon at the memorial service for John Joseph Eagan, philanthropist, business man and Christian, who died last week in Asheville.

The service was held in the First Baptist church and was under chairmanship of Dr. Plato Durham, of Emory University, while the exercises took place under auspices of the Christian council of Atlanta.

Men from all walks of life, clergymen, leaders of business and finance in the community, labor representatives and a delegation from Birmingham, were present to pay a last respect to a man "who was universally honored, whose name was mentioned with national prominence as one of the hopeful business men of the south" and whose life "was proof to what extent Christ may find expression in an individual."

Special music was provided by the choir of the First Baptist church and the quartet of Morris Brown university.

Tributes of Love.

There was a tribute to his sterling qualities as an industrial captain from W. W. Orr, of the George Mue clothing company; an appreciation of his work in connection with inter-racial commissions from Dr. W. F. Fisher of Fisher university, Nashville, a review of his church activities by his pastor, Dr. B. R. Lacy, Jr., of Central Presbyterian church; and a deep analysis of his Christian character by Dr. M. Ashby Jones, pastor of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church.

CAUCUS TO DECIDE
REGULARS' POLICY
ON ALIEN MATTER

Republican Conference Also May Define Stand of Party in Regard to Congress Probes.

REED RESOLUTION
GAINS LITTLE FAVOR

Democrats Balk at Move To Expunge Executive Message From Records of Senate.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, April 13.—The senate is faced to face with two momentous decisions—whether the Japanese exclusion policy is to be written into law and whether there is to be an open breach with President Coolidge over the subject of senatorial investigations of executive departments of the government.

Organization republicans, who have rallied around their chief to give battle to the coalition of insurgents in their own party and the democrats on the investigation question, will go in to reach an agreement.

Whatever the outcome of that conference, most leaders at the capitol foresaw an affirmative vote on the exclusion question despite the vigorous and almost blunt protest from the Japanese government transmitted to the house and senate last week by Secretary Hughes.

Regulars to Back Coolidge.

The Japanese protest was without effect upon the vote in the house, which passed the immigration bill with its exclusion provision by a margin of more than four to one. There was no reference in the debate to the communication from Ambassador Hanabusa and only brief and casual discussion of the exclusion question.

President Coolidge's protest to the senate against the trend of senate investigation also may come before the republican conference tomorrow, but the decision of the organization leaders to stand by the titular leader of their party in this fight already has been made.

Senator Watson, Indiana, one of the republican "wheel horses," has given notice that he will press his resolution proposing discharge of the special senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau, the activities of which brought a sharp reprimand to President Coolidge from Secretary Mellon and in turn from the president to the senate.

Issue Is Clear Out.

Democratic leaders are equally as insistent upon pressing a resolution giving the committee authority to employ counsel. Adoption of this resolution would make possible the retention of Francis J. Heney of San Francisco as "special prosecutor." Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, who has had the dominant part in pressing the investigation had proposed to employ Mr. Heney and pay him out of his own pocket, but President Coolidge has taken the position that this would be in violation of the law.

Senate organization leaders charge openly that Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania is responsible for

The Weather

GENERALLY FAIR.

Washington—Forecast:
Georgia: Fair Monday; Tuesday cloudy, probably showers in west portion; mild temperature.

Virginia: Fair with mild temperature Monday; Tuesday cloudy and unsettled; cooler in north portion.

North Carolina and South Carolina: Fair Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness becoming unsettled in west portion; mild temperature.

Florida: Mostly cloudy Monday and Tuesday.

Extreme Northwest Florida and Alabama: Mostly cloudy Monday and Tuesday; probably showers Tuesday and in extreme west portion Monday; mild temperature.

Mississippi: Local showers Monday and Tuesday; mild temperature.

Tennessee and Kentucky: Generally fair in east and central portions and probably showers in extreme west portion Monday; Tuesday showers; mild temperature.

Louisiana: Monday and Tuesday partly cloudy to cloudy and somewhat unsettled; little change in temperature.

Arkansas: Monday and Tuesday partly cloudy to cloudy, probably scattered showers; little change in temperature.

Oklahoma: Monday unsettled, somewhat warmer in central portion; Tuesday partly cloudy.

East Texas: Monday and Tuesday unsettled, probably local showers; little change in temperature.

West Texas: Monday and Tuesday generally fair, little change in temperature.

the suggestion that Mr. Heney be retained and they assert that the whole purpose is to investigate the federal prohibition enforcement unit, which frequently has come under fire from the Pennsylvania governor.

Political Motive Charged.
Senator Watson, who is chairman of the internal revenue bureau investigating committee declared flatly at the senate yesterday that it was not proposed to go into such an investigation at this time and that any such move would be redisted. Moreover, the Indiana senator charged that the real purpose of the senate inquiries was to aim arrows at President Coolidge. He added that no investigation, however troublesome, would disturb the estimation in which the executive is held by the people.

Although the republican leaders are planning to marshal their full forces, democratic leaders are confident that when the final test of strength comes the internal revenue bureau inquiry will be ordered forward under ample authority for the committee to employ such counsel as may be deemed necessary.

No Favor for Reed Move.
While the president's message to the senate has aroused democratic leaders to a new fighting fever, there is little indication that they look with favor upon a proposal by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, to expunge the executive's communication from the Congressional Record. Senator Reed has announced his intention of calling the resolution on its adoption, in the belief of senate officials, would be without precedent in American history.

While the controversy with the president and Japanese exclusion furnish the two big "fighting" points in the senate's immediate program, other matters of prime importance await disposition. Chief among these are the tax and soldiers' bonus bills, already reported by the finance committee.

Decide Precedence.
Which of these bills is to have precedence is a subject which will come before the republican conference tomorrow. Opinion is divided, some leaders holding that the bonus measure should be put through first so that the senate can act on the tax bill with clearer light.

Far from legislation—temporary and permanent—also is pressing for solution and several appropriation bills are ready for action. So crowded has the senate calendar become that there is increasing talk of night sessions in the hope that congress can quit before the June conventions.

There will be a further lull tomorrow in senate investigations, both the Daugherty and oil committees being in recess. They will resume their public hearings Tuesday and meantime the Daugherty committee will meet to discuss what action is to be taken against Mal Daugherty for his refusal to permit the committee to examine the books of his bank in Washington Court House, Ohio.

House Busy on Fraud Bills.
With the immigration bill out of the way, the house will devote most of the week to clearing its calendar of remaining appropriation bills. The great bulk of its work of the session has been completed, but far legislation and several constitutional amendments, including that regarding child labor, remain.

Republican house leaders are confident this body can be ready for adjournment early in June, but even after its calendar is cleared, it must mark time awaiting senate action on the more important legislation, and the ironing out of differences between the two houses in conference.

PINCHOT ADMITS SUGGESTING HENRY.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 13.—Governor Pinchot in a statement tonight admitted he recommended to the United States Senator Couzens, of Michigan, the name of Francis J. Heney, of San Francisco as special counsel to the senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau, as Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, asserted on the floor of the senate yesterday. After the investigation started, Governor Pinchot said, he got in touch with Senator Couzens "on the question of prohibition enforcement, and on that alone," and that he suggested Mr. Heney as a man whom the senator's committee "would be fortunate to secure as a counsel."

No Personal Matter, Claim.
The governor took issue with Senator Watson's references to prohibition enforcement in his address yesterday, declaring "every self-respecting, law-abiding American must resent the spectacle of a senator publicly confessing that he does not expect the constitution to be obeyed."

Governor Pinchot declared he has "no personal purpose or animus in the matter," and that he is not pressing for a general investigation of the treasury department.

The governor's statement follows: Text of Statement.

"Certainly I saw Senator Couzens. I would have failed in my obvious duty as governor of Pennsylvania if I had not.

"Last October, in a public speech in Washington, I described the breakdown of the federal enforcement service in plain terms. Last January in another public speech, in Washington, I demanded a congressional investigation. In a case like this, the only way to get the law enforced is to expose the facts.

"What I am after in this matter is to get the law enforced. So far as Pennsylvania is concerned, I intend that it shall be enforced. I have made no secret of what I think of the disgraceful breakdown of the enforcement service of the treasury department or of the debauchery, crime, suffering and death it has brought to the people of my state and of many another.

Watson Overhauls.
"After the investigation was ordered, I got in touch with Senator Couzens on the question of prohibition enforcement, and on that alone. In conversation with him I suggested, as others had done before, the name of Mr. Heney, a trusted friend of President Roosevelt, for whom he had conducted investigation, as that of a man whom Senator Couzens' committee would be fortunate to secure as counsel.

"Senator Watson has overhauled himself. He says 'nobody has expected that prohibition would be rigidly enforced up to the present hour.' Every self-respecting, law-abiding American must resent the spectacle of a senator of the United States publicly confessing that he does not expect the constitution to be obeyed."

Coolidge Cited as Spokesman.
"If Senator Watson does not, the people of the United States who forced the enactment of the eighteenth amendment do expect it to be obeyed."

"I have no sympathy with investigation as mere fishing expeditions. I have no personal purpose or animus in the matter. I am not pressing for a general investigation of the treasury department. But I assert, and I challenge Mr. Watson or anyone else to deny it, that it is high time to put an end to the corruption and inefficiency which exist in the federal enforcement service. Since that service will not enforce the laws, the people are entitled to know the reason why."

NEGROES URGED TO CLEAN HOMES AND BACKYARDS
"If colored citizens of Atlanta were forced to clean up homes and backyards, which are now a menace to health, this step would do more to check the spread of contagious disease than all the money the city and county have spent for its prevention in the last ten years," said Rev. B. R. Holmes, president of the Holmes institute, in a special sermon Sunday.

This statement was made in the course of a special sermon to students and patrons of Holmes institute in the college chapel Sunday afternoon, on the subject, "Clean Up Week for the Colored People of Atlanta." Cleanliness should be emphasized more by the colored leaders of the race, he said.

Rev. B. R. Holmes preached a very interesting sermon in New Hope A. M. E. church Sunday morning.

Rev. J. F. Moses, pastor, paid tribute to the work of the Holmes institute.

JASON BURR COUNCIL WILL CONFER DEGREE
Jason Burr council, No. 13, York Rite Masons, will hold its semi-annual meeting on Tuesday, April 22, for the conferring of the council degrees upon a large class of about 100 candidates. Special invitations have been sent to the highest officials of the council in Georgia to attend this ceremony, including E. T. McCutcheon, of Franklin, grand master of the grand council of Georgia; C. H. Andrews, of Macon, grand high priest, and E. A. McLean, of Macon, grand recorder.

The degrees will be conferred in full dramatic form, and will commence at 5 o'clock at the Masonic temple, followed by a banquet at the close of the ceremonies. Applications must be in the hands of William A. Sims, recorder of Jason Burr council, by April 21.

LABOR FEDERATION MEETS WEDNESDAY
The Georgia Federation of Labor will open its annual session at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in the Atlanta labor temple. Approximately 150 delegates from all sections of the state will be present and sessions will continue through Friday.

The 1924 convention, according to President Charles B. Gramling, of Atlanta, will be unique in that it will be devoted almost entirely to business, with entertainment features practically eliminated. The press of important business before the labor officials of the state is the reason given for confining social features to a banquet to be held on Thursday night at the Ansley hotel.

On the opening day addresses of welcome will be delivered by Governor Clifford Walker, Mayor Walter Sims and C. W. Cunningham, president of the central trades body of Atlanta. President Charles B. Gramling, of the state federation, will respond, after which the official gavel will be turned over to him by C. F. Jackson, of Atlanta, temporary chairman of the opening session.

Music for the banquet and convention sessions will be furnished by a large orchestra that will be made up of the Musicians' union of Atlanta. The banquet will be the leading feature of the three-day meeting of the labor forces. Covers will be laid for about 200 diners. Prominent Georgians will be special guests.

Officers will open headquarters in the new Kimball hotel, where much of the business of the convention will be transacted.

Among the matters coming before the federation will be the relation of labor to politics and much interest is expected to develop with reference to the presidential campaign. The child labor amendment proposed new railway labor bill, educational matters and other live questions touching labor and the public as a whole, will be considered. Officers for the coming year will be named.

The convention will hold its business sessions each day in the auditorium of the Atlanta Labor Temple, 112 Trinity avenue.

The committee selected by the Atlanta Federation trades to arrange for the entertainment of the convention is composed of W. C. Caraway, William Van Houten, R. E. Gann, C. F. Jackson and Emmitt Quinn.

Loss of Thousands Follows Accidents; Secure Protection
Thousands of dollars lost! That's an interesting feature that isn't published concerning every accident that happens, but none the less, the feature exists.

For instance: Last Friday morning early an automobile plunged off a bridge between Athens and Jeffersonville, carrying one woman to her death and seriously injuring two other people.

If the woman who was killed and the two who were injured had been protected by The Atlanta Constitution's Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance and Group Reader Life Insurance, thousands of dollars would have accrued to them or their beneficiaries.

Not these two great, economic protective offers are thoroughly efficient, and they cost so little that one, or preferably both of them, are within the means of every man and woman in Georgia and the south.

Under the terms of The Constitution's $500 Group Reader Life Insurance offer, regular life insurance to the value of $500 is granted to any reader between the years of 10 and 45 without medical examination, and the cost is only 15 or 20 cents per week, depending upon the risk involved by the insuring company. This is the only life insurance offered by an Atlanta newspaper.

The second phenomenal offer is The Constitution's $1,000 Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance, which protects any person to the extent of $1,000 against death in certain accidents; provides payment of varying sums for injuries, and provides $10 per week indemnity in case of disability resulting from certain accidents. This insurance costs only $1 per year in addition to the annual subscription rate of The Daily and Sunday Constitution.

If you have the welfare and happiness of your loved ones at heart, one of these two great offers will interest you. A line, a visit or a phone call to The Constitution's insurance department will bring you complete details of both.—(adv.)

LABOR FEDERATION MEETS WEDNESDAY
The Georgia Federation of Labor will open its annual session at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in the Atlanta labor temple. Approximately 150 delegates from all sections of the state will be present and sessions will continue through Friday.

The 1924 convention, according to President Charles B. Gramling, of Atlanta, will be unique in that it will be devoted almost entirely to business, with entertainment features practically eliminated. The press of important business before the labor officials of the state is the reason given for confining social features to a banquet to be held on Thursday night at the Ansley hotel.

On the opening day addresses of welcome will be delivered by Governor Clifford Walker, Mayor Walter Sims and C. W. Cunningham, president of the central trades body of Atlanta. President Charles B. Gramling, of the state federation, will respond, after which the official gavel will be turned over to him by C. F. Jackson, of Atlanta, temporary chairman of the opening session.

Music for the banquet and convention sessions will be furnished by a large orchestra that will be made up of the Musicians' union of Atlanta. The banquet will be the leading feature of the three-day meeting of the labor forces. Covers will be laid for about 200 diners. Prominent Georgians will be special guests.

Officers will open headquarters in the new Kimball hotel, where much of the business of the convention will be transacted.

Among the matters coming before the federation will be the relation of labor to politics and much interest is expected to develop with reference to the presidential campaign. The child labor amendment proposed new railway labor bill, educational matters and other live questions touching labor and the public as a whole, will be considered. Officers for the coming year will be named.

The convention will hold its business sessions each day in the auditorium of the Atlanta Labor Temple, 112 Trinity avenue.

The committee selected by the Atlanta Federation trades to arrange for the entertainment of the convention is composed of W. C. Caraway, William Van Houten, R. E. Gann, C. F. Jackson and Emmitt Quinn.

Loss of Thousands Follows Accidents; Secure Protection
Thousands of dollars lost! That's an interesting feature that isn't published concerning every accident that happens, but none the less, the feature exists.

For instance: Last Friday morning early an automobile plunged off a bridge between Athens and Jeffersonville, carrying one woman to her death and seriously injuring two other people.

If the woman who was killed and the two who were injured had been protected by The Atlanta Constitution's Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance and Group Reader Life Insurance, thousands of dollars would have accrued to them or their beneficiaries.

Not these two great, economic protective offers are thoroughly efficient, and they cost so little that one, or preferably both of them, are within the means of every man and woman in Georgia and the south.

BAKER OPPOSES LEASING SHOALS

Washington, April 13.—Declaring that if he were greedy for power, he would rather control Muscle Shoals than be president of the United States continuously, former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker has joined the fight to defeat the Ford offer in the senate.

Baker said the government should operate the Muscle Shoals plant under the engineering corps of the army. This statement was contained in a letter to Ernest Gruening, president of the International Association of Civilian Clubs. It comes on the eve of a fight to kill the Ford proposal in the senate agriculture committee which begins consideration of the proposal this week. Chairman Norris of Nebraska, is leading the opposition and is supported by conservationists. It is apparent that the plan will have more difficult traveling than it had in the house which passed it by an easy majority.

Concedes Too Much Power

"Our water powers are our great unexhausted and inexhaustible national asset," Baker said. "Whoever owns them in a large sense may be said to own the United States. Industrially and commercially. To grant Muscle Shoals to any individual or company for a hundred years, or even fifty years, grants to such company or individual the industrial dominance for the whole southeastern portion of our country. Every other industry will be at the mercy of that water power, while on the other hand if the government preserves and operates the dam it will be able to feed its current into super power lines and so dominate the electric power situation as to compel equality of treatment to all the vast manufacturing interests of the southeastern section."

Against Public Interest

"If I were greedy for power over my fellowmen I would rather control Muscle Shoals than be continuously elected president of the United States and in the name of the one nobody can now be wise enough to foresee or admit enough to forestall all the ways in which the private control of this immense power source would be prejudicial to the general public interest and profitable to a private interest."

"I am therefore clearly of the belief that the congress should retain Muscle Shoals, provide for its operation directly by the corps of engineers of the army or by a public corporation analogous to the Panama Railroad company, and through such operation deal with the power produced in the mass, without entering into retail operation."

STATE MACCABEES WILL CELEBRATE NATIONAL VICTORY

BY M. D. GLEASON.

A large initiation and banquet will be held Tuesday night by the Georgia Tent Number 8, of the Order of Maccabees, in headquarters in the McKenzie building.

In celebration of Georgia's victory in an international contest for increase in membership, participated in by every state in the Union and many foreign countries, arrangements have been made for 200 plates. Members of the local organization are jubilant over the success as the two Atlanta lodges were largely responsible for its accomplishment.

The silver cup won by the state is a very handsome trophy, with the name of the Georgia leader of Maccabees, R. E. Leatherman, engraved upon it. It will be displayed for three months in the various lodges.

More than fifty Atlantans will be initiated Tuesday night by the crack team of Tent Number 8. A fine entertainment program has been arranged, in which Joe Ellett, Billie Lee, Jim Maxson, Joe Havigthorn and Roy Mott will participate.

Central of Georgia BANDIT IN FLIGHT AS BULLETS FLY

Savannah, Ga., April 13.—(Special.)—That the Central of Georgia railroad had a prosperous year in 1923, and that it now has more employees on its payrolls than ever in its history, are outstanding facts in the twenty-ninth annual report which is being now completed and prepared for distribution to the stockholders. Improved business conditions are cited, and the gross receipts of the road were the highest in any year, amounting to $26,198,848, which was over 12 1/2 per cent above the preceding year, or $2,912,116 increase over 1922. The net railway operating income of the road was, however, $3,944,872, a decrease of over $417,000 from the previous year. The decrease of earnings was due, it was stated, to the increase in the cost of maintenance. Improvements of the service took up much necessary investment of earnings.

The operating expenses were over $21,000,000, an increase of over three million. Some of the interesting facts revealed in the report are: There were in the year 1,622,744,475 tons of freight hauled one mile—an increase of over 12 per cent; the average distance for each ton of freight hauled was 192.72 miles; the average revenue for each ton hauled was $2.14, a decrease; the average revenue for handling each ton one mile was 1.11 cents, a decrease; the number of passengers moved one mile was 180,028,982, an increase of nearly sixteen million; the average distance passengers were carried was 47.4 miles, at an average per passenger of $1.19, or an average per passenger per mile of 3.15 cents; the wages paid took up almost half of the operating expenditures; the company paid $1,295,000 in taxes during the year.

POSTAL WAGE HIKE NEEDED NOW, MEAD

Washington, April 13.—Replying to Postmaster General News's recent statement on increased pay for postal employees, Representative Mead, democrat, New York, member of the joint subcommittee on salaries and allowances of the committee on postoffice and post roads, today announced his opposition to the proposed wage raises by appointing a commission to inquire into the subject.

Representative La Guardia, republican, New York, at the same time declared any charge that friends and supporters of the postal increase bills are "seeking to destroy parcel post" is "favor of express companies, of course is so absurd that it is not worth considering. A suggested increase of $8 a month he said was "not going to remedy the hardships."

As a result of "careful and thorough inquiry" extending over months "the committee is about to decide that better pay is absolutely essential to the proper conduct of the business of the department," Mr. Mead said. The joint committee is scheduled to reconvene tomorrow.

Announce Savannah Delegates to London Bar Meeting in June

Savannah, Ga., April 13.—(Special.)—Announcement was made today that the Savannah delegation to attend the convention of the Bar Association of Great Britain in London, July 20 to 22, will consist of Judge Peter W. Medlin, former president of the American Bar association, and designated by the Georgia Bar association to go, and Judge Geo. T. Cann, Judge A. B. Lovett, Frank M. Oliver and A. Pratt Adams. They will go to New York to sail on the Berengaria, chartered to transport the American lawyers to the meet.

COOLIDGE ADOPTS WILSON STRATEGY

Political instinct told him that the moment for a white house offensive had arrived.

Rebuke Draws Slap. As expected, his rebuke to the senate provoked severe retaliatory measures. It is probable that the democratic-republican insurgent will adopt the Jones resolution empowering the internal revenue committee to employ special counsel, thus permitting it to hire Francis J. Heney, whose retention by Senator Couzens personally provided the incident upon which Coolidge based his rebuke.

Coolidge had reason to expect such retaliation and the consequence of this hostility were weighed before he dispatched his sensational message.

Wilson Tried It. Now the question that remains is whether events will justify Coolidge's bold strategy. Wilson tried the same method and failed. The circumstances in this fight and the League of Nations battle are not entirely parallel. Yet this fight, as was the league fight, is bound up in a presidential election and the political factor is predominant now as it was in 1919-20.

Democratic senators construe Coolidge's message as a blanket condemnation of the recent investigations and it has been so regarded in much of the editorial comment. They insist, and will try to convince the country, that Coolidge has acted unwisely in condemning investigations which have disclosed what the government's own counsel terms "bribery and corruption" in the oil leases, and which have forced two members out of the cabinet.

See Fear as Motive. They insist that the white house opposition is inspired by the fear that Mellon would be the next to go. Coolidge's message has made the democrats and the insurgent republicans more determined than ever to force an investigation of the bureau of internal revenue and of Secretary Mellon.

On Coolidge's side is the weariness and indifference of a large section of the public, and the peculiar public psychology which often takes a sportsman's view of politics and cheers for one man who is fighting a battle of congressmen and senators.

Coolidge has gambled on public opinion piling up behind him. If his judgment is correct, he may emerge victorious. If not, there are dark days ahead of him next November.

PAPER EXECUTED SIXTY YEARS AGO IS FINALLY FILED

Savannah, Ga., April 13.—(Special.)—Nearly 60 years after it was duly executed, a deed was only yesterday filed for record in the office of the clerk of court, Chatham county. A deed from Frederick Koch, conveying to the Rev. John Cox, as trustee for Jane Clay and her children, one-half interest in certain town lots in Savannah. The paper was yellow with age. The instrument was dated June 1, 1865, and had been kept among papers of the parties interested.

MOTHER AND BABY BURNED BY LYSOL

It was caused from an accumulation of gas. He did not learn of Mrs. Morgan's injuries until Sunday.

JINX FOLLOWS NEGRO GIRL HIT BY THREE MACHINES.

For the third consecutive night the victim of automobile mishaps, Mable Lavine, a negro girl who lives in Rensselaer alley, is believed to be in a dying condition at Grady hospital after being run down by a car Sunday night at the corner of Pryor and Garrett streets.

Aided by the Lavine jinx which has seen two other careless motorists escape after injuring the negroess, the driver of the car Sunday night, escaped by deserting his own auto and escaping in a bus which was parked near the corner. Before Call Officers Dorsett and Johnson arrived on the scene both cars had disappeared.

IMMENSE THROG AT YORK FUNERAL

The great number necessitated that the walls be used for their offerings. More than 400 floral offerings were placed in position by special helpers.

After all seating space had been taken, and standing room filled, many Atlantans stood during the service on the lawn, the side walks and even in the streets.

Beautiful music was rendered by the quartet of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church. "Lead Kindly Light," "Where Storm Winds Blow No More," and "Nearer My God to Thee" were sung with beautiful harmony and solemnity. The funeral service lasted less than an hour, being consumed by the songs, short prayers and address by Rev. Jones and Rabbi Marx.

Rabbi Marx read the 90th, 23d and 24th Psalms over the casket. Rev. Jones choosing the 13th chapter of First Corinthians.

After the service the honorary escort, led by the two officiating ministers, stood before the church doors awaiting the casket which was followed by the widow and relatives of the deceased.

The long procession then made its way to West View cemetery, where the body was laid to rest.

EAGAN'S DEATH LOSS TO NATION

Cast Iron Pipe company in Birmingham was headed by C. D. Barr, president of the organization, and Dr. Bray, chief of the medical department of that concern. Atlanta's industries, civic, patriotic and religious bodies were represented by a large crowd of listeners.

"Mr. Eagan showed us the Christ was in dealing with racial questions in the South," said Dr. Fisher. "He took the commands of his Master on their face value and blazed the way toward better understanding between the two races of the south."

Placed Value On Men. Mr. Orr spoke of the tremendous value Mr. Eagan placed on men. "When making inspections of his plant, his concern was not primarily profits, but his great anxiety was the human factor in industry. He approached all things from the Christian standpoint. In him not only did Atlanta lose one of its most valued citizens, but his loss is national in character, to an even greater extent than we suspect," said Mr. Orr.

"He showed me Jesus," said Dr. Ashby Jones, "not in a repetition of familiar phrases of Christian vocabulary, but in the spirit in which he dealt with all matters that came to his attention. I care not whether his projects will mean an economic or industrial success. I know that in him there was no ranking class-consciousness. He never showed a man out of the radius of his sunshine because of race, political affiliation, or religious persuasion. Of that I am profoundly certain," the speaker declared.

"If ever we are going to build a democracy upon this continent, the care for the welfare of the very least amongst us must be built on the spirit of John Eagan. It is in the south that the religion of Jesus Christ meets its acid test, the test whether or not it can solve the racial question in a spirit of approach and conciliation."

Need Spirit of Eagan. Dr. Jones said that unless the mode of work and the spirit of John Eagan was manifest in the south's dealings with the negro problem, the Kingdom of God could not come and the prayer "Thy kingdom come" could not be answered.

That John Eagan considered his mother's influence one of the greatest factors in life was the story told by Dr. Lacy, who said that to trace the life of John Eagan as a son of the church meant to review the history of the Central Presbyterian church. During the last 20 years there had not been one movement of worth while character in Atlanta but John Eagan's name had been connected with it.

Dr. C. B. Wilmer, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, pronounced the benediction.

TO STOP IT BY LAW.

It has been announced by Representative J. Herman Milner, of Dodge, that he will introduce an amendment to Georgia's primary law providing that the county delegates to a state convention shall be chosen by and appointed by the democratic executive committee of that county from among the known supporters of the candidate who carried that county in the primary. This amendment, of course, will apply the law to all counties.

This proposed amendment should be passed by unanimous voice of the two houses of the assembly.

When such a law is in the statutes, and when the primary law shall have been amended, as is further proposed by Representative Neill, of Muscogee, with which the people of the state are quite familiar, then we will have representative government in Georgia—a real democracy.

The people are aroused to this necessity. Every year since the primary law was passed the state democratic committee's rules have vested the authority of naming delegates with the respective county committees, but the rules for the presidential primary of 1924 were changed so that the minority was locked out of the convention and the county committees given no voice in their own jurisdiction. There never has been a more serious blow at democracy than the rules under which the primary of March 19 was held and, rule or no rule, the various county committees should have been consulted before the delegates were appointed.

It is water that has gone over the wheel now, but if the amendment proposed by Mr. Milner is passed by the assembly this summer, and it undoubtedly will be, there will be no more such slaps at the fundamentals of free government in this state.

GREAT ROAD MEETINGS.

The United States Good Roads association, in conjunction with the Bankhead National Highway association, will hold their annual conventions in Albuquerque, N. M., May 26-31, inclusive. Delegates will be present, it is announced, from practically all of the states of the union, and a large number of governors of states, as well as leading officials from the federal government, will attend. Highway officials, of course, from many states will attend.

Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, of Atlanta, president of the woman's commission of the Bankhead National Highway association, also vice president of the United States Good Roads association, has accepted an invitation to attend the coming meeting and to deliver an address on "Work Accomplished by the Women in Beautifying and Marking the Bankhead National Highway." Mrs. Thornton is an able speaker, has an attractive manner and is a splendid organizer. She has done much to organize the women in the thirteen states through which the Bankhead highway runs for beautifying this highway.

There is not a more indomitable good roads enthusiast in America than J. A. Rountree, director general of both of these great organizations.

It is hoped that the delegation from the southeast may be as large as practicable. The southern states are particularly interested in the Bankhead highway, on which an enormous amount of work has already been done. It is linked up perhaps more completely than any of the transcontinental highways and the efforts of Colonel Benham Cameron, of North Carolina, and others of the association in its interest are unceasing and entirely unselfish.

This highway traverses from Washington to San Diego, Cal., via Atlanta, Birmingham and Memphis.

THE CLEAN-UP DRIVE.

Everybody in Atlanta should take a personal and, when practicable, a working interest in the general "clean-up, paint-up" campaign, which begins today.

It is the week before opera and thousands of visitors will be in the city following the campaign and will return to their homes with better impressions of the city if they find the streets and yards and corners—everything—clean.

Aside from this, health demands cleanliness. Material prosperity demands cleanliness. Morality and intellectuality demand cleanliness.

In this week's drive there is more organized effort than in any similar movement of the past. The mayor has issued a proclamation and with it a magnificent argument why the city should be made clean and why every effort should be made to beautify the homes and the laws.

The chamber of commerce, the junior chamber, the Woman's club, civic organizations, the schools, all are coordinating for the success of this movement.

Mrs. T. T. Stevens, representing the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, is doing a particularly serviceable work in seeing that the campaign is a success and she is ably assisted by hundreds of women members.

The responsibility rests upon each individual to do his or her part.

This movement should be a success and we earnestly urge the people of the city to give it the cooperation it so richly deserves.

THE SOVIET'S LOGIC.

Zinovieff's speech on the claims of Russia against Great Britain as an offset to Great Britain's claims against Russia has very clearly developed the very serious mistake of Premier MacDonald in recognizing the soviet government.

As a matter of fact, Great Britain is now seriously involved, and the predicament comes from the official admission that the soviet government exists de jure—of right.

The Portland Oregonian discusses the situation at great length and with its usual forceful capability. It says:

"Its righteousness being acknowledged, any help by another government to attempts at its overthrow is wrong and is a subject for compensation. Britain helped Kolchak and Denikin, but not enough, consequently they failed. All that the soviet now needs to do is to cook up a bill of damages exceeding the total of Russia's debt to Britain and to British citizens and of British claims for confiscated property, in order to get rid of the soviet government and to turn its credit to its credit. By this process Zinovieff shows that Britain owes Russia the neat sum of two billion gold rubles."

Of course, the soviet chieftain "proves" his case with bolshevik logic.

The revolution was made to conquer the bourgeois and, the proletariat having won, expectation that it will return "all that it appropriated by virtue of its revolutionary rights" is "ludicrous." If foreign capitalists have lost by calculating that there would be no such revolution, "it is their own fault," they are out and injured.

By recognizing the soviet Great Britain has recognized the validity of its title—of its revolutionary rights.

Zinovieff reasons, therefore, that Great Britain must pay damages for having infringed those rights by military aid to the whites.

Recognition of the soviet by the United States government would have the same effect. The Constitution has vigorously opposed the suggestion, and has never been able to understand the strong sentiment that developed in the senate for such recognition.

It's high time for Spring to stop the game of "freeze out."

Very few investigated politicians can afterward command a certificate of good character.

That investigation has given the Teapot Dome world-wide notoriety.

The late Hugo Stinnes could have paid Germany's war debt and never missed the money.

That new comet is leading the astronomers a dance around the skies.

Even Senator Walsh is getting tired of the oil investigation.

When the long lane turns, the proverbial lion is waiting in the way.

And this is also the season of grand opera in the woodlands.

Just From Georgia

BY FRANK L. STANTON

The Rain Man Speaks.
The Weather Man who runs the rain gauge in the city of Atlanta, he heard the weary world complain, And here's the very word he said in his cloud-courtyard overhead:
"You've been a-coming just that way, Since first you knew the night and day."

And yet you know in dark or fair, It hasn't got you anywhere!
Put your rain-troubles on the shelf, And try, some time, to run yourself!"

The Mule and the Music.

"The poets have said so much about 'singing at the plow,' says the Adams Enterprise bard, 'that I decided to try it; but my foot mule has no appreciation of things any higher than he can kick, and he emphasized his objection to that sort of music by making a break for the woods, leaving the plow suspended on the garden fence.'"

Life and Love.

Life without love is a desert. In it no flowers can bloom. Sharp thorns there may be, and thistles.

Only for such there is room: Life's roadways bordered with roses. True love to guide us, what bliss! But oh, for life's desert pilgrim, Drear and lone is his life.

Oh, give me life's tranquil valley, Where angels of love can come, My mule cot's threshold crossing, To brighten and to cheer my life. There with me shall live Contentment, And the great world's noise shall cease.

Faith and Hope for dear companions, Motto of all of us: "Peace!" —CHARLES W. HUBNER.

A Homely Sermon.

Can't reap without the sowing— That's a fact, and it's true. In the sweet fields of Eden, There's a mule to plow!

You've got to climb to get it— That's a fact, and it's true. In the sweet fields of Eden, There's a mule to plow!

It's toil that takes the kingdom— We need to raise a mule. If you want the fields of Eden, There's a mule to plow!

Georgia Philosophy.
We are not happy because we step lively. It is the trouble of this world that keeps lots of us dancing.

It doesn't take much to make a man happy in this world, but sometimes we don't recognize it. Happiness when she says "Good morning."

The Rosy Side.
Bear with the trouble of the storm, my dear, The trouble of storm and tide; Smile or frown, still the world turns round To the beautiful rosy side!

Don't climb to the hilltop unless you are sure you can roll down, if you come, and keep your dignity.

"Flow On, Sweet River!"
Flow on, sweet river, Flow on, sweet river, And learn the secrets of the land, And tell 'em to the sea! But leave the water-lilies To tell your dreams to me!

Brer Williams.
Don't worry over what's a-comin', 'Tis no kin-dee pull thou wilt what's up ter you right now, 'twill be doing well erter.

Today's Talk
BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON AND ON.
I can find nothing in this life that is itself easy, so long as it is worth while.

And I discover myself thinking the opposite today to what I thought yesterday. I am not contented, for I am traveling, and on a lonely valley I walked through a lonely valley. Today I am high on the hills and look down on the valley, and the valley looks different from a high place. When you are in the valley of your distresses, climb up and look down. Your troubles look very small and insignificant when you have risen above them.

Those who start out in life with much, usually end with little.

Only by working, thinking, believing, on and on, are we able to find happiness—in endurance. And only in this way are we able to surpass ourselves each day.

I refer to the German told his stepson: "I am not a man of unusual talent. I started out with very moderate abilities; my success has been due to my active and persistent effort in developing what I had in me to the extreme limit. When a man begins to sharpen one faculty and keeps sharpening it with tireless perseverance, he can achieve wonders. Everybody knows it; it's a commonplace, and yet how rare it is to find anybody doing it. I mean to the uttermost as I did. What genius I had was my work!"

He who scatters gets nowhere.

But he who concentrates—even on a simple task, and does it better than it has ever been done before—is sure to excel many and surpass a large number.

We need to think about these things, every day, easily forgotten truths. So many want quick money, easy wealth, high salaries, without working for them—or, rather, without working and waiting until they come from long patience and labor.

"What genius I had," said Stevenson, "was for work!" (Copyright, 1924, for The Constitution.)

Georgiagraphs

Georgia is in about the same longitude as Ecuador and Peru in South America—the eastern edge of Georgia being on about the same line as that running through the extreme western part of those countries on the Pacific coast of the continent to the south.

Georgia's total registration of automobiles this year about 135,000—there being 32,000 machines and 6,000 trucks operating in the state. And to this might have been added the several thousand cars from other states—tourists and visitors from every state in the Union—on Georgia roads for a day or a few days only.

Just In Passing

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON

Thomas J. Hamilton, editor of The Augusta Chronicle, and one of the cabal that wiped out county autonomy in so far as the forthcoming state convention is concerned, chafing under the lash of public sentiment, published a bitter first-page editorial in denunciation of The Constitution, Mr. Howell and myself in his Friday's paper.

In the course of his personal attack on me he made the following very serious statement:

"The Chronicle is in possession of the further information that on Sunday morning preceding the preference primary, Mr. Hollomon, acting as he stated, in behalf of Mr. Howell, went to the hotel room of the manager of the Underwood campaign before the Underwood campaign and gotten out of bed and endeavored to treat with him in the interest of Mr. Howell to insure the selection of Mr. Howell as the Underwood campaign, as the event Underwood should carry Georgia. This information has come to The Chronicle, but we have thus far refrained from its use. Under the continued vituperative attacks being made by Mr. Hollomon, and in order to keep the record of this affair straight, we hereby give the information as we received it with the statement that we were told on reliable authority that it would be to the benefit of the Underwood campaign, as the event Underwood should carry Georgia. Haas & Haas, Insurance Firm

Rendering Efficient Service

The insurance agency of Haas & Haas, who occupy large commodious quarters at 1109-1114 Fourth National Bank building, is a part of the firm of Haas & McIntyre, who commenced business in Atlanta over a quarter of a century ago. This present firm is the outgrowth of the former firm and is composed of Leopold J. Haas and E. Arthur Haas and has been doing business under the firm name of Haas & Haas since May 1, 1921, since when it has made very good progress in all lines of its endeavors. This firm specializes in mortgage loans, surety bonds and all kinds of insurance, and in the matter of loss adjustments, personal attention is given to every case by experts who are prepared to render quick and efficient service. This firm writes all forms of fidelity bonds and contracts, giving special attention to administrators, both permanent and temporary, executors, guardians, trustees, receivers, certiorari, garnishment and attachments, as well as all form of court bonds, such as tax receivers, tax collectors, treasurers, clerks of court, sheriffs, commissioners, county surveyors, judges, ordinaries, magistrates and all other city, county or state officials who are required to make bonds. Haas & Haas also represent the well known British company, the Commercial Union Assurance, Limited, which has branches in London, New York and other valuable articles covering "all risks in all situations," as is done in England. Both members of this firm are typical Atlanta business men and have well qualified experts in charge of all departments, rendering prompt and courteous service, they have built up an agency that helps make Atlanta famous the world over.

Elaborated Roofing Co.

Guarantees All Its Work

Atlanta is certainly favored when it comes to getting inside prices on roof roofing material, and the reason being southeastern headquarters for the best roofing material companies in the country, this city and vicinity gets the benefit of carload lots, which means quite a saving in rates in this heavy material over when it is shipped in less than car load lots. There is probably no roofing company in this country that enjoys a better reputation than the Elaborated Roofing company, of Chicago. This big company has laid more than 200,000 roofs in the past 20 years. Their big plant in Chicago covers an entire square block, where several hundred skilled employees are busy the year around making this roofing. At this plant every kind of roofing material is used and being the pioneer factory in elaborated roofing, they jealously guard the secret process that makes this kind of roofing the world's standard. This firm has agencies in most all principal cities and under the direction of the local managers they lay all their own roofing in this way and are able to give a long-time guarantee with every roof put on. The Atlanta manager, L. E. Williams, with offices at 222 Palmer building, has in Atlanta a large force of skilled workmen who have been with him for many years and they have put new roofing on most every kind of a building in this city. Both Mr. Williams and his men are serious consideration should be given to the condition of old roofs, for the spring rains now and the 40 days of rain in the dog days to follow will only make a bad roof worse. All those contemplating putting on a new roof or recovering an old one would do well to give Mr. Williams a ring at Walnut 4693, or get one of his booklets on roofing and they will have the advantage of getting the advice of an expert who represents a big reliable company, who absolutely guarantee every roof laid and have for their motto, "durability, reliability and perfection."

Steel Industry Sets New High Production Record

New York, April 13.—Conditions in the steel and iron industries continued to command a large share of attention in business and financial quarters last week. Reports of further curtailments by some automobile manufacturers, and a disturbing effect, particularly as these reports were accompanied by strong attacks on motor shares. Trade observers contended, however, that these curtailments were exceptional and were made by smaller companies whose competitive position was not strong. They refused to believe the industry as a whole was in otherwise than a sound condition. Reports from the steel industry showed that March production set a new high record for all time, but that the slackening in buying which started during the last 10 days of the month had continued. Under these circumstances competition was stronger and the market for steel products remained rather weak. Production is expected to decline slightly. A decrease of 130,000 tons in the United States steel corporation's unfilled orders was in line with expectations. It was pointed out that the decrease was a natural result of the exceptionally heavy deliveries made in March and of the absence of orders from the plate and rails, and the mills already were booked upon the latter materials. As the corporation's shipments amounted to 55 per cent of the month's bookings were estimated at 86 per cent, or the largest in two years except for January and February.

Steel Will Recover. One explanation offered for the condition of the steel market was that the unusual speed and efficiency with which factories and railroads are operating permitted a large volume of orders to be filled quickly, the result being short buying movements. Although under these circumstances production can expand beyond current demand for a time, the readjustment comes quickly and embarrassing stocks of materials are not accumulated. Consumption of steel products is believed to be holding up well. Weekly car loadings figures confirmed the impression that distribution and consumption of goods was active. The total number of cars loaded in the week ending March 29, was 907,000, slightly smaller than for the preceding week and below the total for the same week a year ago. The decrease were attributed, however, to the drop in coal loadings, itself an aftermath of the situation created by the prospect of a coal strike earlier in the year. Loadings of general merchandise and less than carload lots set a new high for the week.

Cloth Market Improves. Strength continued in the cotton market and was reinforced by what appeared to be a turn for the better in the wool market. The May futures rose to a high of 31.95 cents, or nearly 1 1/2 cents above the low of two weeks ago. Better trade buying at home and abroad helped to create a shortage of contracts and contributed to the enthrallment of the shorts. The latter discovered they had sold heavily in a well liquidated market. Bankers received the Dawes report in a friendly and appreciative manner. The quick acceptance by the reparations committee was considered a good point, but it was realized that time would be required to determine the attitudes of the various governments involved. It was pointed out that wholehearted acceptance by Germany was essential for success and that if Germany does not accept willingly and in good faith, the flotation of an international loan hardly would be possible.

CRACKERS OFF FOR NASHVILLE TO START SEASON

Prosperous Season Expected in Southern Loop

President Martin Pledges "Best Efforts" in Statement; Pels Out to Defend Pennant

Memphis, Tenn., April 13.—Stronger clubs than last season—on at least—with many new faces will break the barrier Tuesday for start of the twenty-third championship season of the Southern Association of Baseball Clubs with every indication pointing to a prosperous season and a merry scramble for pennant honors.

"Everything is set and ready for the season's opening Tuesday," John Martin, league executive, said in a greeting tonight to southern baseball followers. "The showing of the clubs during spring training and exhibition games indicates improved playing strength and assures lively competition all around the circuit. We have used our best efforts to set rules that would assure fair competition and these rules will be tried."

Baseball was never on a firmer foundation in popular interest and the confidence and it is up to us to administer its affairs to keep it so.

The Southern association has had a new term of five years as league president following years of service in the office. I am the public eye from intention to it that Southern association shall remain worthy of the support our southern people give it. So, let's play ball and let hard and fair and square."

to defend the pennant they last year, the New Orleans Pelicans have patched up the weak spots in their machine. But the other teams have not been idle in this respect; many new players with good ability in other leagues will be seen in Southern association uniforms this year.

The 1924 schedule calls for 154 games, beginning April 15 and ending September 21. The pennant winner, will play the winner in the league for the southern states championship.

With the exception of Atlanta and the all of the clubs begin the season under the same management as last year, through the 1923 season.

Niehoff is Cracker. Niehoff, who managed Mobile last year, has gone over to Atlanta, where he will manage the Crackers, succeeding Otto Miller, who is going with Indianapolis this year. Niehoff, who has held down the sack for the Mobile Bears for

Majors Open Tuesday; Managers Confident

New York, April 13.—All of the managers of the various teams in the major leagues were confident of the outcome of their teams, in statements made on the eve of the opening of the 1924 season, Tuesday.

YANKEES, GIANTS AND DODGERS READY.

New York, April 13.—Far from having its pennant appetite dulled by the successive triumphs of the Yankees and Giants over the past three seasons, New York's baseball fans have marshaled their best men, McGraw and Huggins in their attempts to set diamond history by making it four straight flag victories this season.

Across Brooklyn bridge, third metropolitan entry, the Dodgers have shaped their line-up for a vigorous campaign, but the chance that Wilbert Robinson's men will escape the second division is slim.

Of the two Manhattan clubs, the Yankees appear the stronger, with their world's championship line intact for opening day Tuesday with a free-for-all between New York, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Chicago. He declared tonight the Cubs would lead in the running for the start, "with much stronger pitching than favored last season."

Alexander, in his 10th season, appears as strong as ever, with Aldridge and Egan, and J. D. and Peckinpaugh, veterans, also will be in the lineup. Prothro, from Memphis, will start the season at third base. The club is weak in reserve strength, especially in the infield.

CLEVELAND HAS STRENGTH OF EIGHT.

Cleveland, O., April 13.—Strengthened at first base by the acquisition of George Burns and with better pitching than for several years, the Indians are in the fight for the American league pennant. F. S. Barnard, president of the club, declared today.

In Jamieson, Stephenson, Speaker, Joe Sewell, Burns and Summa, the first six men in the line-up, all of whom have batted better than .300, the team has a wrecking crew. The Indians are expected to lead the league in batting.

Myatt, Uhl and Lutzke may be added to the list of those within the circle of 300 hitters or close to it.

Speaker hopes to start the season with his regular pitchers divided between left and right-handed fingers. He will depend mainly on the left hand, especially on Egan and the last two pitchers, Morton, McEwen, Leason, Drake, Smith and Edmondson will be held in reserve. Luke Sewell, Matty and Walters will be in the lineup.

Indications are that Sumter Clarke, Birmingham recruit, will alternate with Summa in right field.

LOTS OF SPIRIT AMONG THE REDS.

Cincinnati, April 13.—The Cincinnati Reds will open the championship season at home on Tuesday with the same team which went through last year and finished in second place, except that the pitching staff has been strengthened by the addition of Carl Mays, former star of the Yankees; Jackie May, crack southpaw from the Coast League; and Tom Shuman, from St. Paul, leading pitcher

CHICAGO CLUBS ARE CONFIDENT.

Chicago, April 13.—With Frank Chance, who piloted the Chicago Cubs to four pennants 15 years ago, as the new manager of the Chicago American League club, the White Sox tonight predicted that his team would be "up there fighting." The principal change in the Sox line-up will be the addition of Shortstop, Dan Brouthers, from the Texas League. Joe Rabbit, from Muskegon, may yet force one of the veteran outfielders to the bench, and Assistant Manager Johnny Evers, who conducted the spring training, feels that many of the young pitchers carried by the Sox last year are about ready for regular turns in the box, especially Blankenship, Leverette and Clevenger, a southpaw.

President Veeck of the Cubs thinks the Giants have weakened just enough to make the National league race a free-for-all between New York, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Chicago. He declared tonight the Cubs would lead in the running for the start, "with much stronger pitching than favored last season."

Alexander, in his 10th season, appears as strong as ever, with Aldridge and Egan, and J. D. and Peckinpaugh, veterans, also will be in the lineup. Prothro, from Memphis, will start the season at third base. The club is weak in reserve strength, especially in the infield.

Stanley Harris, major league baseball's youngest manager, will play second base. Shocker and Peckinpaugh, veterans, also will be in the lineup. Prothro, from Memphis, will start the season at third base. The club is weak in reserve strength, especially in the infield.

PIRATES ARE PICKED TO BE CONTENDERS.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 13.—Baseball experts of Pittsburgh, after a critical analysis of the Pirates' 1924 machine, are convinced that with good pitching the team will be close to the top of the heap when the season ends. And as the pitchers have done well during the training season, some of the observers are heralding the club as the strongest contender for the flag.

With the addition of the sensational recruit shortstop who will step into Maranville's shoes, has added great strength to the all-star infield of Grimm, and "the big" and "the little" of the Pirates' lineup. Maranville has demonstrated his ability to hold down the keystone sack position. Schmidt and Gooch will be behind the plate. Biechler, Baker and Egan, all seasoned men, in the outfield. Morrison, Meadows, Cooper and Kremer compose the pitching staff, with Babe Adams and Steinoor helping out on the mound. With the added strength in the regular lineup and splendid reserve material for an emergency, the experts pick the Pirates to make a one, two, three finish.

WHITEHILL MAY STAR FOR TIGERS.

Birmingham, Ala., April 13.—The unwritten law of major league baseball—pitching a veteran in the opening game—may be discarded after Tuesday night when Detroit Tigers open the American league season here against the Cleveland Indians. Manager Cobb may point his managerial finger at Earl Whitehill, the Birmingham, Southern association recruit, and have him to pitch the opening game.

Daus, Pilleite, Cote and the other veterans have not rounded into perfect condition and for this reason, it is probable Cobb may confer the honor on the recruit.

The Tigers will open the season with practically the same lineup that appeared in last season's opener. The infield remains intact. Apprehension is felt, however, as to the ability of Shortstop Rigney, who has had trouble with his hip, and Second Baseman Pratt, who had a bad season last year.

Blue at first, and Jones at third, are expected to contribute their share to the Tigers' success.

The outfield will not be changed materially. Mann will take Bobby Veach's place while Cobb and Heilmann will continue to hold down their respective places. Cobb has found no problem to solve in his catching staff.

SISLER IS BACK AT FIRST WITH BROWNS.

St. Louis, April 13.—With George Sisler back at his old position at first base, the St. Louis Browns will present a squad little changed from that of 1922 when they opened the American league season at Chicago Tuesday.

There is one modified problem in the Browns' lineup, at third base, which Ellerbe appears to have taken over, with Robertson, star of the southern trip, stand relief. The work of Herbert Pruett, southpaw from Missouri University, warrants the belief that he will greatly aid the Browns' pitching department. Sisler announces he will use Pat Collins more frequently this season to relieve Catech, Severid.

The Browns' outfield combination of five years' standing can be relied on to carry out their part of the program.

Hornsby has commenced his wallowing tactics for the Cardinals, bringing in the only run against the Browns yesterday with a four-base error. Several new faces appear in the Cardinals' lineup due to the injury of Clemens, catcher, and the hold-out of Stock. Three youngsters, Vick, Niebergall and Holm, are bidded for the Cardinals' pitching department, and Freigan and Bell are scheduled to cover the third sack.

PHILADELPHIA TEAMS HAVE HIGH HOPES.

Philadelphia, April 13.—On the eve of the opening of big league baseball the local managers were looking forward with confidence to the coming campaigns. Connie Mack, leader of the Athletics, is hopeful of a first division berth, and Arthur (Doc) Cavanah, manager of the Phillies, expects to lead his team to the top of the heap.

"My team is much stronger this year," Mack said, "and I look forward to making it the best in the league. Our biggest problem is in the pitching box and if the hurlers come through as I expect them to, we will fool some of the critics."

"During the winter we have made a few changes that helped a lot," he said, "and now are ready to go out and win the National league race. I am certain that the team will show to better advantage during 1924 and if the pitchers deliver we will be far from the cellar at the finish."

COG FOR SENATORS.

Washington, April 13.—As Walter Johnson goes the Washington American league baseball club usually goes, and this year the management believes the veteran speed ball king to have one of his best years.

Beginning his eighteenth season with the club, Johnson this spring will be aided by a promising corps of assistants, including Morgridge, Zachary and Russell, veterans and McGraw, Zahniser, Marberry, Wingfield, Martina and Speer, younger twirlers. The catching staff, headed by Ruel, has been strengthened with the addition of Tule from Memphis of the Southern association, and Rice and Goslin, outfielders will be joined either by Fisher, from the Eastern league, or Smith, a hard hitting North Carolina recruit, or Leibold.

Stanley Harris, major league baseball's youngest manager, will play second base. Shocker and Peckinpaugh, veterans, also will be in the lineup. Prothro, from Memphis, will start the season at third base. The club is weak in reserve strength, especially in the infield.

Stanley Harris, major league baseball's youngest manager, will play second base. Shocker and Peckinpaugh, veterans, also will be in the lineup. Prothro, from Memphis, will start the season at third base. The club is weak in reserve strength, especially in the infield.

PIRATES ARE PICKED TO BE CONTENDERS.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 13.—Baseball experts of Pittsburgh, after a critical analysis of the Pirates' 1924 machine, are convinced that with good pitching the team will be close to the top of the heap when the season ends. And as the pitchers have done well during the training season, some of the observers are heralding the club as the strongest contender for the flag.

With the addition of the sensational recruit shortstop who will step into Maranville's shoes, has added great strength to the all-star infield of Grimm, and "the big" and "the little" of the Pirates' lineup. Maranville has demonstrated his ability to hold down the keystone sack position. Schmidt and Gooch will be behind the plate. Biechler, Baker and Egan, all seasoned men, in the outfield. Morrison, Meadows, Cooper and Kremer compose the pitching staff, with Babe Adams and Steinoor helping out on the mound. With the added strength in the regular lineup and splendid reserve material for an emergency, the experts pick the Pirates to make a one, two, three finish.

WHITEHILL MAY STAR FOR TIGERS.

Birmingham, Ala., April 13.—The unwritten law of major league baseball—pitching a veteran in the opening game—may be discarded after Tuesday night when Detroit Tigers open the American league season here against the Cleveland Indians. Manager Cobb may point his managerial finger at Earl Whitehill, the Birmingham, Southern association recruit, and have

NEW STROKE IS BEING USED BY COACH

Chicago, April 13.—The fish in Lake Michigan, awakened from winter slumber by human rivalry and spring warmth, flapped their fins in piscatorial display over the news of a phenomenal stroke perfected by William Bachrach, head coach of the American Olympic swimming team.

Bachrach learned the new aquatic contention watching the antics of fish. Hence, he calls it the "fish tail flip." Its use by Illinois Athletic club stars already has broken several world records.

After viewing professionally the antics of real fish, Bachrach reduced his observations to a scientific study and evolved a new method of leg action which he believes has rendered the old "frog kick" obsolete.

With a large representation from his club on the Olympic team, Bachrach expects the American swimmers to flip themselves through the water so fast that contenders from other countries will see nothing but the spray kicked up by the Yankees.

The new flip is used in conjunction with the breast stroke. The "frog kick" with which the German swimmers used to break records in heat and counts, Bachrach's "fish tail flip" is done in two, he explains.

Is Better Stroke. A swimmer using the new stroke must resist the temptation to resist from the water by a direct separation of the legs. The legs are rotated at the hip socket so that the knees bend outward. They bend only a little, just enough to form a sort of preliminary to a real flip action. The stroke is completed when the legs are carried out to a full spread position, where both feet are flipped inward, just as a fish flaps its tail.

In the new stroke, Bachrach's fishermen throw the feet deep into the water, to get traction for the flipping motion.

Using the "fish tail flip," Robert Skelton recently broke the world's record for the 200 meter breast stroke swim and John Farley has commenced to break records since he abandoned his old style of swimming for the new. And Bachrach hopes to make some even greater swimming discoveries, for he is keeping his eyes on the fish.

BEAR REGULARS WIN FROM RESERVES, 6 TO 5

Mobile, Ala., April 13.—The reserves of the Mobile Southern association team forced the regulars to go 11 innings in order for the latter to win a 6-5 victory this afternoon in an exhibition game. The Mobile club will hold its final work-out tomorrow prior to the opening game of the season Tuesday. All details for the opening have been completed.

Squad Seems Confident Of Success This Year; Race Will Begin Tuesday

BY HENRY ALLEN.

The Crackers are off for Nashville. Early last night Bert Niehoff and seventeen of his sunbaked athletes boarded a train for the Tennessee city where they will engage the Vols in the first game of the Southern league season Tuesday afternoon.

And every one of these athletes who automatically start drawing their pay from the Atlanta baseball club on that day is anxious for the barrier to be sprung that they might go thundering down the stretch pennantward with a share of the post series money in view if they should cap the bunting.

And every one of this outfit was more than confident of the success, although September is a long ways off. But even the veterans who have quite a bit of Southern league experience under their lels stated in no uncertain terms that things looked mighty rosy for the Crackers.

Niehoff Optimistic. Even Boss Niehoff, who is reluctant when it comes to making a statement for publication as to the prospects was more than optimistic. An optimism in such a person as Bert Niehoff should be a good might sign, for during his two years in the league he has piloted a pennant winner and only injuries at the crucial time last year kept his club out of the series money again.

The squad making the trip and who will prove for the up the Crackers, for the time being is as follows:

Breck and Hawthorth, catchers. Hurris, first base. Niehoff, second base. Hillis and Krehmeyer, shortstop. Smith, third base. Zachary, fourth base. McCabe and Paschal, outfielders.

Art Mueller, utility. Karr, Dumont, Schwartz, McLaughlin, Nohaus, Francis and Slapnick, pitchers.

And this is just about as strong a squad that Niehoff could select from this very capable list of ball players. Some announcement as to what will be done in their cases will probably be made sometime during today.

This leaves Roscoe Sheppard, Manly Lewellyn and Bob Tencar, pitchers, who must be disposed of before Tuesday. Some announcement as to what will be done in their cases will probably be made sometime during today.

President Corbett also announced last night that Dorris Miller, a young right-hand pitcher, had been sent to the Greensboro club, of the Piedmont league, on optional agreement. Frank Baskette, a catcher, will probably be sent to Macon or Greenville in the Sally league sometime today.

While the Crackers will be able to get off to a good start on the other clubs in spite of the fact that they have had a hinders the training processes.

McBee's Start Doubtful. There is still some doubt as to whether Billy McBee will be able to start in centerfield next Tuesday. McBee is suffering from an injured shoulder and unless he is greatly improved, he will be taken. But if he doesn't start Art Mueller will draw the assignment and is perfectly capable of filling the gap until Billy can get into shape.

While the Crackers will be away until Thursday morning, when they make their opening bow at Spiller's field that afternoon, plans under the direction of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are going along smoothly towards capturing the attendance trophy once more.

Atlanta set a record for the Southern league clubs to shoot at last year when 15,064 paid admissions were counted, but this year officials are looking forward to 20,000.

Governor Clifford Walker will be the guest of honor and will toss the first ball. Mayor Sims will also share honors and is expected to declare a half holiday for the occasion. John D. Martin, president of the league, will also be on hand.

Arrangements have been made for the Elks' patrol and band to be on hand and the official opening of Spiller's field, the magnificent new home of the Crackers, will take place.

Everything will be completed by Thursday and the monster crowd can be handled with ease. There will be plenty of seating arrangements for everybody.

The Crackers will work out this afternoon at Sulphur Dell, the home of the Vols, their final practice before the opening Tuesday.

TRIBLING IS BIG BOOST TO LIGHT-HEAVYWEIGHTS

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

Though Young Stribling didn't win the light-heavyweight championship from Mike McGuire, he has put himself ahead of Mike as a "drawing" with fight followers. A champion doesn't increase his prestige by being outboxed, outfought and nearly knocked out in a no-decision contest. This is the second time Young Stribling has shown superiority. Suddenly, a championship lasts the holder is beaten, either by out or official decision or loss of foot. Mike is still technical upon. According to the bird who is the dictionary "technical" is a fight point; a quibble.

Young Stribling's showing against McGuire is likely to get up some heat in the light-heavyweight class, anything interesting will be well by the boxing fans this year, nothing worth while doing among heavyweights or lightweights, and the closed season prevailing in and middleweight classes. Just the only live wire in boxing is to be the new bantamweight champion. Abe Goldstein, who left the Joe Lynch out of a decision the title.

Well, anyone can sign to fight. But, well, anyone can sign to fight.

K. OF C. TEAM LOSES TO FEDS

The Knights of Columbus baseball team and the Federal Prison nine engaged in an interesting nine-inning game of baseball yesterday at the prison. The K. of C. team lost 4 to 2.

The game was a pitcher's battle, in which four twirlers pitched for the Hunters and Doolan pitched for the winners, while Maloney and Bradley took turns on the hill for the losers.

With the exception of the pitcher, the K. of C. team lost 4 to 2. The prisoners scored their first run in the second inning. They also scored one in the fourth, one in the fifth and another in the sixth. The visitors scored their two markers in the third.

Ledell, of Columbus Knights, and Morgan, for the Feds, were the stars of the afternoon, both smashing out blows that went for two sacks. Two other features.

never heard of him, apparently. But the story, by unknown strangers, told by Spilla and Rojas should be reported to fight Wills when Jack Renault is right on Rickard's doorstep, waiting. We know something about Renault. He ought to outwrestle Spilla and Rojas, concerning whom there is no public curiosity, three to one. And if Renault beat Wills he might consider himself ready to fight Dempsey—a match that might be interesting, and would at least be a contest.

Wills has not met a good man in years. The quality of his opponents, and the slovenly manner in which he wins from them, may indicate that Wills has gone far past his prime as a fighter. In that case it is good business for him to stall along with easy marks while there is a possibility of his getting a Dempsey match eventually and the big purse that goes with it.

Dempsey, after a sensational campaign to get a championship match, fought Jess Willard at Toledo for $27,000. What Dempsey was after was the championship and the money he could make by winning it.

You don't see Wills rushing to fight Dempsey for $27,000. He can't talk about anything less than a hundred thousand. What Wills wants is the money he'll get in that one fight.

Major Leaguers All Set For the Curtain-Raiser

New York, April 13.—Fresh from six weeks' training and barnstorming, fourteen major league baseball clubs are all set to provide the opposition in what, New Yorkers declare, may well be the fourth consecutive pennant grab of the Yankees and Giants.

Fingers partly numbed through the long winter months are becoming agile now and once more will fondly wrap about the neck of a dead pop container, next Tuesday, when the major league season gets under way.

CHAPTER XIII.

Tangled Threads.

Suzanne hesitated for a moment, not knowing whether to follow Lolita from the room or pretend not to notice her absence. She hoped that Dick would see that the girl had gone, but he was busy with some new arrivals and gave Suzanne no opportunity to signal him.

Turning, she realized that Mrs. Vale was watching her, with narrowed eyes. Instantly she joined the other woman. Her suspicions had been aroused by her discovery of Mrs. Vale's real motive for coming to the house that evening, and she determined to take the bull by the horns and solve this problem as quickly as she could.

"That little Lolita is a lovely thing, isn't she?" she commented, seating herself beside Linda Vale. "I don't know when I've seen a prettier girl."

"Yes, she's charming." There was a moment's silence, then Mrs. Vale continued, almost too casually, "Isn't she a dancer or something? I thought I heard your nephew was so good."

"Oh yes, she's a chorus girl who is working very hard, hoping really to be a dancer some day."

"I should have kept them apart," Suzanne told herself.

"Well, she won't get far with her ambitions if Dick has anything to say about it, will she?" commented Mrs. Vale, with her little laugh that Suzanne had learned to dread.

"He is very fond of her," replied Suzanne stiffly.

"Oh, anyone could see that! And my dear, I do think that you ought to try to curb it. Geoffrey would be very angry indeed if Dick did anything so foolish as attaching himself to a chorus girl."

"Oh, she may be a perfect lady—they always pretend to be, don't they?" Suzanne asked, looking at her.

"No, anyone could see that! And my dear, I do think that you ought to try to curb it. Geoffrey would be very angry indeed if Dick did anything so foolish as attaching himself to a chorus girl."

Jane Hedden Hat Pattern

EDITORIAL.

Easter hats show a marked favor for fabrics. Crepe de chine, canton and georgette come in beautiful hand dyed and printed patterns suitable for the new scarf sets.

These scarfs may match the sport hats or be made in colors to harmonize with the plainer street hats. The home seamstress can easily make a scarf in an hour. It may have a shaped scalloped hem, or a braided, embroidered or plain hem on a printed background. Scarfs in plain colors are embroidered in vivid outlines of suede, duvetyne or broadcloth.

Five minutes later she was telling herself that she had been a fool. She had antagonized Mrs. Vale definitely now; had made herself an enemy when she should have tried hard to make a friend.

"But I hate her! I simply hate her!" she exclaimed, as she walked across the broad hall, in search of Lolita. "She'd know it anyway, so I might as well come right out into the open with it."

She found Lolita sitting in a corner behind the stairs with Dick. He rose and hurried forward as Suzanne approached.

"Suzanne, I'm going to take Lolita home," he told her, taking her hands in his. "She doesn't feel well, and doesn't want to face the crowd again. I'll just slip away, and he'll be before anyone knows we've gone. That'll be all right, won't it?"

"Yes—of course," Suzanne was stammering the girls' fate, and thinking that she looked worried, rather than ill. "But I hate to have her go so soon; she's met only a few people, and—"

"Oh, that needn't bother you; she just wanted to come, you know. Just well, I wanted her to feel that we wanted her in our home, you understand. That was the reason I arranged this party. Now, I'll run up and get your cloak, dear."

The girls went, leaving Suzanne to sit down beside the girl and worry over that "dear." Just how far had he gone in this love affair? What if he had proposed to Lolita? Visions of a French gray and white, leather and brown, rust and henna are other favored color combinations. Taffeta, georgette or canton crepe are desirable materials.

One of the favored combinations for early summer is bluish pink and black. Just the faintest pink of the Killarney rose gives this new shade which is used for underfacing and flowers. SHAMPOO HINTS.

Washing one's hair at home is one of the simplest things in the world, yet I receive dozens of letters a week from readers who complain that after a home shampoo their hair is covered with a sticky white substance, which comes off on the brush, that it looks dull and that it won't do up properly. The fault is either because the hair is not washed thoroughly enough, because it isn't rinsed enough, or because the wrong sort of soap is used. Follow these directions and your hair at the end of the shampoo will have the beautiful gloss that everyone admires.

If the scalp is quite dry and dandruff rub it with hot olive oil or hot crude oil the night before, otherwise rub it with olive oil an hour or so before you wash it. Be sure you have plenty of hot water. If you can afford it, make yourself a present of a small hose made to fit over both faucets of the bathtub so a stream of water of the proper temperature can be sprayed over the scalp. If you can't do this, or if you haven't running water, use a small pitcher and keep dipping it into the basin and pouring the water over the scalp again and again, for it is not only the water but the force of the water that counts.

Have some castile soap, previously melted with hot water into a jelly, mix some of this with hot water, pour it over the scalp, and rub until the hair is covered with lather. An important thing to know is that you must never rub soap directly onto the scalp. Rub the lather, repeat a third time and rinse. If the hair is very dirty or very oily you can safely use the soap even four times, for castile is not drying, and the oil previously rubbed into the scalp must be dislodged.

Now you are ready for the final rinse. As the quantity of soap has thoroughly taken off the dirt and the oil the rinsing won't be hard.

H. W.: There is no such thing as a reducing cream but you can reduce portions of the body through massage.

Princess Is Authority.

This is the message which Princess Mary Tourkistanoff, member of the royal family of Russia, is bringing to Atlanta women in her talks on perfume.

Princess Mary, who is a child and as a young lady in Russia perfumes were her hobby. Now, while seeking a career for herself which will enable her to aid the homeless children of her country who are in such pitiable condition as the result of the revolution and to further work in this country among the Russian refugees, perfumes have become her vocation. Always she has found delight in the use and study of perfumes; in the blending of delicate odors and in adapting them to her moods and gowns.

It was at a social function in New York, following her harrowing escape from Russia, that the princess met M. Elizabeth Arden, renowned creator of toilettries and perfumes, and their conversation naturally drifted to the subject in which they were both interested—perfumes. The princess was delighted to find that she could obtain so reasonably in America the scents she had used in Russia during the pre-revolution days at prices far above those here.

Realizing that these lovely perfumes were within the reach of every woman and that there was much the American women could learn of their desirable qualities which is more or less an inherent knowledge with the elegant Russian lady, the princess finally decided to use this means of aiding her country's helpless ones and at the same time educate the women of this country in an art in which there is so much to learn.

Talks on Perfumes.

In her inimitable style, the Princess recently explained to a group of interested listeners the features which she considers are essential in the use of perfumes. It is not enough, she explained, to use one perfume at all times. One must adapt the perfume to the mood and the gown. The same fragrance day after day soon loses its appeal and does not interpret the personality any more than one color in dress or one tone in voice, Gaiety, adventurousness, lassitude, smugness, gentleness, may each be expressed in the proper use of perfumes.

In the morning one should use a light odor; in the afternoon, a different perfume, although this should be delicate, too. In the evening one may use a heavy scent, depending on the shade and the mode of the gown. The vivacious blonde, clad in fluffy garments, can enhance her charm by the use of an exotic perfume, blended with something fresh and young to relieve the heaviness, while still making it alluring.

The brunette should affect a more sensuous odor than her blonde sister, like the sandalwood or musk or even the white rose. The gardenia is the insignia of gaiety and merriment and expresses this mood by the use of the gardenia scent. The quiet temperament adapts itself to the use of violet, trailing arbutus or acacia odors.

The princess also explained the proper application of perfumes. They must be used carefully, guardedly. In the evening when using a heavy odor, she advises merely touching the neck and ears lightly.

She has found that men like perfume, too, but hesitate to use it, because they are afraid of being called effeminate. She advises them to use a light, delicate scent, such as the gardenia or the white rose, which is not so suggestive of femininity.

Princess Mary's talks on perfume are being given at the Atlanta Woman's club, Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Charles Hoke will direct a beautiful musical program as a part of a series of operatic now being given here.

Mrs. Hoke will be assisted in the musical selections from the famous Gounod's "Faust" by Mrs. Jesse Reese Calvert, soprano; Miss Frances Gilliland, contralto; Charles Hoke, tenor, and Ernest Allen, baritone.

An attractive feature of the opera presentation will be violin selections by Mrs. Annie Munger Mueller, and Miss Nell Munger, and artistic dancing by Miss Franziska Mueller.

Realizing that these lovely perfumes were within the reach of every woman and that there was much the American women could learn of their desirable qualities which is more or less an inherent knowledge with the elegant Russian lady, the princess finally decided to use this means of aiding her country's helpless ones and at the same time educate the women of this country in an art in which there is so much to learn.

Talks on Perfumes.

In her inimitable style, the Princess recently explained to a group of interested listeners the features which she considers are essential in the use of perfumes. It is not enough, she explained, to use one perfume at all times. One must adapt the perfume to the mood and the gown. The same fragrance day after day soon loses its appeal and does not interpret the personality any more than one color in dress or one tone in voice, Gaiety, adventurousness, lassitude, smugness, gentleness, may each be expressed in the proper use of perfumes.

Miss Cobb Will Interpret Goethe's "Faust" Wednesday

Miss Carolyn Cobb, one of Atlanta's gifted artists in dramatic reading, will interpret Goethe's "Faust" at the Atlanta Woman's club, Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Charles Hoke will direct a beautiful musical program as a part of a series of operatic now being given here.

Mrs. Hoke will be assisted in the musical selections from the famous Gounod's "Faust" by Mrs. Jesse Reese Calvert, soprano; Miss Frances Gilliland, contralto; Charles Hoke, tenor, and Ernest Allen, baritone.

An attractive feature of the opera presentation will be violin selections by Mrs. Annie Munger Mueller, and Miss Nell Munger, and artistic dancing by Miss Franziska Mueller.

Princess Mary, who is a child and as a young lady in Russia perfumes were her hobby. Now, while seeking a career for herself which will enable her to aid the homeless children of her country who are in such pitiable condition as the result of the revolution and to further work in this country among the Russian refugees, perfumes have become her vocation. Always she has found delight in the use and study of perfumes; in the blending of delicate odors and in adapting them to her moods and gowns.

It was at a social function in New York, following her harrowing escape from Russia, that the princess met M. Elizabeth Arden, renowned creator of toilettries and perfumes, and their conversation naturally drifted to the subject in which they were both interested—perfumes. The princess was delighted to find that she could obtain so reasonably in America the scents she had used in Russia during the pre-revolution days at prices far above those here.

In the morning one should use a light odor; in the afternoon, a different perfume, although this should be delicate, too. In the evening one may use a heavy scent, depending on the shade and the mode of the gown. The vivacious blonde, clad in fluffy garments, can enhance her charm by the use of an exotic perfume, blended with something fresh and young to relieve the heaviness, while still making it alluring.

The brunette should affect a more sensuous odor than her blonde sister, like the sandalwood or musk or even the white rose. The gardenia is the insignia of gaiety and merriment and expresses this mood by the use of the gardenia scent. The quiet temperament adapts itself to the use of violet, trailing arbutus or acacia odors.

The princess also explained the proper application of perfumes. They must be used carefully, guardedly. In the evening when using a heavy odor, she advises merely touching the neck and ears lightly.

She has found that men like perfume, too, but hesitate to use it, because they are afraid of being called effeminate. She advises them to use a light, delicate scent, such as the gardenia or the white rose, which is not so suggestive of femininity.

MONROE FARMERS PLAN LARGE TOBACCO CROP

Juliette, Ga. April 13.—(Special.) That tobacco can be successfully grown in Monroe county has been proven by R. J. Gose and Peter C. Wilson, of Sumner Gose raised nearly $300 worth on an acre of ordinary land that was not fertilized and it is thought that with intensive cultivation a crop of $500 per acre should have been raised. It is the opinion of Wilson, who cured 30 pounds from 100 stalks of tobacco, that at least 500 pounds of tobacco can be produced on an acre of land in this county. The tobacco industry is still in the experimental stage in Monroe, but it is believed it will develop on a large scale. A big acreage will be planted in tobacco this year.
